

Gutenberg Printing Press

Considered as one of the most important inventions, the printing press was invented by Johannes Gutenberg in 1448. His invention paved the way for mass printing of books, journals and newspapers.